Instructors To Be Schooled Next Tuesday

The first public voting machine instruction session will start Oct. 14.

Instructors will be members of the Stroudsburg Senior Women's Club, who will conduct instruction sessions throughout the rest of that week.

County commissioners, who have cooperated with the program from its start, have arranged to have two machines available at each of the following places:

East Stroudsburg High School, the courthouse in Stroudsburg, and the polling places at Middle Stroud and Middle Smithfield Townships.

Final arrangements were made yesterday by co-chairmen of the program, Mrs. Alford Meyers, East Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Claude Leister, Foxtown Hill.

Sponsors of the program are The Daily Record and the Women's Club.

Next step is to seek wide industrial participation, the chairman said.

Industries will be asked to cooperate by releasing employees on some schedule so that all may have a chance to attend one of the instruction sessions and to operate one of the machines.

The machines will be in use for the first time this year except in Barrett Township, which has used machines for voting for some 15 years.

The program conceived and designed to give the estimated 10,600 voters who have registered in the 14 "machine districts" a chance to know everything there is to know about using one—how to vote a straight ticket—how to split a vote—what to push and what to pull.

In addition, it is expected, there will be many visitors from non-machine districts. The question of whether the county should buy machines for the remaining 20 paper-ballot districts will be decided by voters in those districts in November.

It is believed that many of the residents in non-machine districts will attend to look over the machines, see how they're used, and try them out.

Hours for the four instruction phases will be:

Oct. 14 through 17 (Tuesday through Friday), noon to 4:30 p.m.

Oct. 16 (Thursday) an additional night session, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Oct. 18 (Saturday) 9 a.m. to noon only.

The committee pointed out, however, that the schedule of hours may be modified if it is necessary for dovetailing with industrial arrangements.

The instructors will get their own instruction at a single session at the courthouse Oct. 7.

The method of using the machine will be explained and demonstrated by John Wolfe, Cresco, representative of the Automatic Voting Machine Co., makers of the machines. Commissioners have been invited to the meeting.

It has been decided to assign one woman to each machine during demonstration and instruction hours throughout "instruction week."

For that purpose, a total of 53 members of the Women's Club have volunteered their services.

Twenty-five are Democrats and 28 Republicans. In order to keep the program non-partisan in every sense, in addition, dummy ballot cards will be printed for use on the machines, probably with designations like "Party A" and "Party B" instead of the regular party names.

Discharges Slated

Washington (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced yesterday that 2,250 employees in its hospitals will be discharged, effective Nov. 4.

Eisenhower Blames Dems Alone For Loss Of China

Aboard Eisenhower Special Train (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asserted last night that the Democrats alone were responsible for the loss of China to the Communists.

The Republican presidential candidate, carrying his campaign through Michigan, told a wildly cheering audience in Grand Rapids: "The Republicans were not taken into council on China at all."

Eisenhower said that the decisions which resulted in China becoming the latest victim of the Reds were taken solely by the Democratic officials who are concerned with foreign policy in Washington.

He cited this as "only one of the failures" that overtook the foreign policy of the United States when the bipartisan method of formulating foreign policy was abandoned. Vice-versa, the general said, the successes that have been achieved by the United States in the struggle against Communism came about when representatives of both parties were fully consulted.

As examples, he mentioned the building of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the bolstering of Turkey, Greece and other countries that have been menaced by the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower's talk in Grand Rapids had not been scheduled.

However, when his campaign train moved into the station a crowd, estimated at 10,000 was waiting to hear him. For that reason, apparently, the general again discussed foreign policy, and the bipartisan approach to it in government, as he did several times earlier yesterday in Michigan.

He repeated that this close cooperation between the parties is essential and he said:

"Our potential enemies must know, beyond any question, where we stand. And our friends should not have to look over their shoulders, wondering where we stand."

Eisenhower appeared in seven key cities.

A compilation of police estimates of crowds indicated that somewhere in the neighborhood of 100,000 people saw and heard him. Crowds ranged from 5,000 to 20,000 at the back-platform talks from his campaign train.

But in Flint and Jackson, where he motorcaded through the streets and spoke from rostrums, the attendance went up much higher.

His Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, covered some of this same Michigan area last Sept. 1. The crowds were bigger yesterday, and they appeared to be more enthusiastic.

GOP Planning Blitz Drive, Ball Reports

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—George Ball, national executive director of the Volunteers for Stevenson, said yesterday the Republicans are planning a two million dollar "political soap suds" campaign on television and radio to elect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And Earl said the campaign will be based on a document, "prepared for the Republican high command," stating that Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, can count on only 30 "sure" electoral votes. That is 236 short of the 266 needed to win in November.

The document Ball made public also states:

"According to the best current data available, the Democrats lead the Republicans in potential electoral strength by 180. If they take New York, they have an excellent chance to get the necessary 267 (sic) votes to cinch the election."

Ball spoke at a luncheon rally of Volunteers for Stevenson workers from 29 states. The volunteer organization's efforts are being directed mainly toward winning independent votes to the support of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Ball told his audience the Republicans are planning a "blitz" TV-radio campaign during the three weeks before the election.

Chinese Troops Strike Hard

Seoul (AP)—Chinese Communist troops struck hard on the Central Korean front yesterday, but took it easy in the West and flew pennants in frontline "Independence Day" celebrations.

The Communists fought to the summit of a disputed hill on the Central front west of the Pukham River, but were thrown back down the slope in desperate fighting with fists and bayonets.

East of the Pukham, Republic of Korea Third Division troops tried to seize a hill position they lost to the enemy Monday, but broke off the action early yesterday with the Communists still on the summit.

America Better Off Than Ever Before, Says Truman

Spokane, Wash., (AP)—President Truman said last night that in spite of "stale Republican lies" about high prices and taxes the American people are better off than ever before.

And he said the nation will risk losing its "hard-won system of prosperity and security" if it puts Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Republicans who "can't think beyond their own pocketbooks" in power at next month's election.

"I am sorry to see that abject surrender of their presidential candidate to the reactionary, vindictive wing of the old guard," Truman said, adding:

"Neither the Republican platform nor their candidate reveals the slightest understanding of the basis of our prosperity or how to go about preserving it."

Truman lashed out at Eisenhower and what he called the Republican "snollygosters" in an address at Spokane after a day of whistle stopping that began with the dedication of the vast Hungry Horse Dam in Montana.

At Hungry Horse he charged that Eisenhower "has adopted the line of the private power lobby" and predicted no more government power-irrigation dams will be built if the Republicans get into office.

Truman kept up the running fire against Eisenhower in a series of rear platform talks before reaching Spokane. He told a crowd of 2,000 at Eureka, Mont.:

"If you like Ike as much as I like Ike, you'll send him back to the Army."

Then in the Spokane speech Truman renewed the "snollygosters" charge he first made on a previous campaign swing last Labor Day, for Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson.

"Snollygoster," it was explained at that time, means a person who talks humbug for political gain.

Truman said the "snollygosters" are saying government deficits are too big, national bankruptcy is imminent, peace in the cold war would bring a new depression.

"Sheer poppycock," the President declared.

Asserting his administration has produced a budget surplus of nearly four billion dollars, and has reduced the public debt, he said:

"I am afraid that future history will have to say that Harry Truman was just one of those old-fashioned fellows who believed in balancing the budget."

Pro-American Candidates Get Heavy Vote

Tokyo, (AP)—Japan's voters stamped enthusiastic approval on the pro-U. S. policies of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida yesterday while handing a cold rebuke to the Communists.

Yoshida's Liberal party rolled far out in front in the first balloting for the 466 seats of the lower house of the Diet since Japan regained its independence last April. A record total of 35 million Japanese voted yesterday, more than 76 per cent of those eligible.

Nearly half the contests decided, the Communists had failed to win a single seat, although they captured 35 in the last election. The Japanese were turning on them for their vicious anti-U. S. riots on May Day.

Unofficial returns gave the Liberals 133 of the first 220 seats decided. The Progressive conservatives trailed far behind with 45, the left wing Socialists with 17.

9,471 Men, 8,761 Women Registered

"Leadership of Women"

If everyone goes to the polls next month, male voters will outnumber females by only four per cent in Monroe County.

There will be 9,471 of them, as opposed to 8,761 women . . . a ratio of 52 to 48 per cent.

These were the results revealed yesterday in a release of official registration figures by the commissioners' office.

The total registration figure—18,232—was slightly lower than the unofficial number published earlier.

Most of the difference resulted from deaths and persons who moved out of the county, but who were not removed from the lists until later.

In a breakdown of the two major parties, it was revealed that in Monroe County, at least, there are more female Republicans (3,919) than there are male (3,764).

On the Democratic side of the fence, males outnumber females 5,558 to 4,738.

This puts the totals for the two major parties at an official 10,296 Democrats and 7,683 Republicans.

At least one surprise in the official figures and breakdown was in the rise of registration in districts where voting machines will be used next month.

There are 14 such districts. The number of registered voters in the totals 88.2 per cent of the total registration.

In the remaining 20 districts, where paper ballots still will be used next month, live only 41.8 per cent of the total number of registered voters.

Numerically speaking 10,616 may vote by machine while exactly 3,000 fewer, or 7,616, will have to use paper ballots.

This ratio may change after the election, however, for the question of whether the county should get more voting machines will be on the ballot in non-machine districts.

Of the county's 34 political districts, all but six were more or less predominantly Democratic. The exceptions were Western Coolbaugh, Jackson, Mount Pocono, Paradise, and Stroudsburg's Second and Fifth Wards.

By whipping Allie Reynolds, the Yankee ace, in the opener, the Brooks took a giant stride toward their goal of bringing a world championship to Brooklyn after five misses.

Commerce Aide On 'Leave'

Washington (AP)—Mrs. Leon Keyserling, wife of President Truman's top economic adviser, is on extended leave from her Commerce Department job, but officials refused comment yesterday on published reports she is undergoing a checkup by the Loyalty Security Board.

Mrs. Keyserling's immediate superior, Loring Macy, said she is on leave but wouldn't say when she left, for what reason nor for how long. Macy is head of the Office of International Trade, in which Mrs. Keyserling draws $10,800 a year as head of its Division on International Economic Analysis.

Keyserling, who is head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said neither he nor his wife had any comment. He told a reporter neither, as government employees, could discuss a case against an employee.

Loss Of Robots Laid To Video

Deseronto, Ont., (AP)—Royal Canadian Air Force officials said yesterday they suspect stray television signals from Rochester, N. Y., are causing radio-guided robot gunnery target planes to crash in this area.

Five $3,000 target craft have been lost recently by the RCAF.

The RCAF figured impulses coming across Lake Ontario from station WHAM-TV at Rochester, about 80 miles away, are interfering with its own radio controls that guide the targets in the air.

LOSER EYES WINNER — Brooklyn's baseball Dodgers made World Series history yesterday when they defeated the New York Yankees, 4-2, for their first opening game victory in six tries. Joe Black (right), rookie relief artist, won the starting assignment for Brooklyn and came through in grand style, edging the veteran Yankee, Chief Allie Reynolds (left).

Joe Black's Fine Pitching, Homers By Robinson, Snider, Reese Too Much For Champs

Brooklyn (AP)—Joe Black, a rookie relief pitcher turned starter in a "shoot the works" gamble by Manager Chuck Dressen, mastered the ever-winning New York Yankees yesterday, 4-2, while the booming home run bats of Jackie Robinson, Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese brought Brooklyn the opening day victory in the 1952 World Series.

Sensational fielding by Andy Patkos, Bill Cox, Carl Furillo and Robinson helped the 28-year-old Negro from Plainfield, N.J., over the rough spots.

Snider's tremendous two-run blast in the sixth, sailing a high arc over the shiny electric clock atop the right field scoreboard, was the payoff in this contest watched by 34,861, a series record for Ebbets Field.

With Preacher Roe and Johnny Rutherford straining in the bullpen while the Yanks applied pressure in the seventh and eighth, the talented rookie staved off the 6 to 5 favored Yankees.

By whipping Allie Reynolds, the Yankee ace, in the opener, the Brooks took a giant stride toward their goal of bringing a world championship to Brooklyn after five misses.

113 Others, Two Americans Are Wounded

Cheju Island, Korea (AP)—Five hundred Red Chinese prisoners unleashed their first big riot on their "independence day" yesterday and one-third of them were cut down in a melee with U.S. guards.

Forty-five Red prisoners were killed and seven died in hospitals of injuries, the U.N. Prisoner of War Command said. Another 113 were hurt. It was the second deadliest riot in the long, bloody history of Communist prisoner-violence in Korea.

Two of the 80 U. S. soldiers who rushed into the tumultuous compound were wounded slightly as they met the rock-throwing, club-swinging Chinese with rifle fire and bayonets.

The prisoners hurled stones from behind the walls of a barracks they were building, and met the soldiers in the open with clubs, barbed wire fangs and tent poles—the standard weapons the Red prisoners used before.

A board of Army officers flew to Cheju Island to begin an investigation.

It was the first time any of the 6,400 Chinese Communist die-hard prisoners had started any serious trouble. All the other violence here and on Koje Island, 125 miles to the northeast, was staged by Korean Reds.

Even so, it was topped in bloodshed only by a February riot on Koje in which 81 Korean Communist prisoners were killed.

Most of the slain and wounded Reds were victims of gunfire, a Prisoner of War Command spokesman said. He said no concussion grenades or tear gas were used.

"Machine guns were on the towers of the compound," he said. "I don't know if they were employed."

"It was a real fight. It has been the policy of the Prisoner of War Command to meet challenges with force. The incident today is another example of this policy."

Fighting broke out about 7:30 a. m. when American guards went to Compound 7 of POW Camp No. 34 to form work details.

Prisoners with their makeshift arms were milling around, singing defiantly and refusing to go on work detail. Presumably they were celebrating the third anniversary of the establishing of the Communist regime in China.

Guards called the camp commander, Col. Richard D. Boerem of Pittsburgh, Calif., who broadcast an order over a loudspeaker ordering the Reds to stop the demonstration.

The Communist diehards, part of a total of 6,400 Chinese Reds quartered around Cheju City, ignored the order.

Then the U. S. infantrymen entered the compound, firing their guns, and tangled with the shouting Reds.

Some wounded prisoners were immediately transported to Allied Prisoners of War Camp Number 2 at Pusan for treatment.

Retail Food Prices Decline

Washington (AP)—The retail price of food declined eight-tenths of 1 per cent during the three weeks ended Sept. 15, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday.

The decline, from a record peak, was mainly attributed to lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, eggs and pork.

House Group Says McGrath Balked Probe

Washington (AP)—A congressional committee said yesterday that J. Howard McGrath appeared to have tried to thwart its investigation of the Justice Department when he was attorney general.

In a report, the House judiciary subcommittee also said McGrath exhibited "a deplorable lack of knowledge of the department he was supposed to administer."

His testimony and his record as attorney general indicate that he was content to let the status quo remain without knowing what the status quo was," the investigators reported.

Informed of the subcommittee's latest blast, McGrath told a reporter he had no intention of engaging in a cross-fire of discussion on each of the committee's interim reports.

"I shall wait until they have concluded their work," he said, "and at that time I shall say what I think is appropriate."

The investigators said McGrath showed "no enthusiasm" for their probe, which was launched to find out, among other things, how the Justice Department handled prosecutions for income tax violations.

Miss Blatt Hits State's Use Of Cars

Delaware Water Gap — If she were auditor general, Miss Genevieve Blatt said here last night, she would find out why the State needs 3,138 automobiles.

Miss Blatt, candidate for the auditor general's post on the Democratic ticket, was the main speaker at Laurel Lodge, where a four-county celebration of Democratic Women's Day was held.

She mentioned that nearly 30 of the cars were Cadillacs while the most expensive — a Chrysler Imperial ($5,832) — was assigned to the secretary of internal affairs. The State's adjutant general contented himself with two Cadillacs, she added.

The first is owned by the State presumably to serve the transportation requirements of some 40 to 60 thousand State employees, Miss Blatt said — a ratio of one car to every 13 or 20 employees, according to season.

Miss Blatt charged the Republican administration with imposing the highest State tax in Pennsylvania history, and plunging the State deeper into debt, she claimed, than any other state in the nation.

Another speaker at the session, Mrs. Carmen Dykes, pointed out in Miss Blatt's behalf that women politicians "never" had been accused of dishonesty in office.

Mrs. Dykes claimed the Republicans criticized, but offered no constructive criticism.

On honesty, she said: "Out of two and a half million government workers, only 88 or 89 were dishonest, and some of those were Republicans. (She did not state over what period.) They (Republicans) never talk of the Harding administration when 756 were fired for dishonesty."

Mrs. Dykes said that out of every tax dollar, 85 cents was spent for "the security of the country."

The importance of four elements of campaigning was stressed by Mrs. Ruth G. Herling, Lancaster, vice-president of the State Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs: Working for the State candidates; the issues involved; organization; and work by party members.

Mrs. Helen Sutton, president of the State Federation, advised listeners to "make your influence felt" in conversations with other women.

John Brislin, Democratic county chairman, stressed the dangers of overconfidence.

Brislin told listeners that an organizational meeting was held every Friday at Laurel Lodge, and the sessions are open to the public.

The hall was crowded with representatives from Monroe, Luzerne, Carbon and Schuylkill Counties. Also attending were most of the Monroe County Democratic party officials and men in public office.

Calcium Chloride Clears Off Ice

Calcium chloride, mixed with sand, is recommended for melting snow and ice on walks because it does not damage leather footwear.

Any chemical should be used sparingly because too much may cause the concrete to flake off or damage the mortar between bricks.

Paraffin or a light coat of oil on the snow shovel will prevent snow sticking to the tool, thus lightening the shovel task.

District Tax Chief Resigns

Scranton (AP) — Joseph T. McDonald, 43, has resigned as collector of internal revenue of the 12th Pennsylvania District, which comprises 20 counties.

(Monroe County is in the 12th District.)

McDonald resigned in a letter to President Truman and expressed a desire to return to private law practice.

A successor was not immediately appointed but it was reliably reported that Asst. Postmaster Gen. Joseph J. Lawler of Jessup, Pa., is the No. 1 candidate for the $12,000 a year post.

Lawler is the brother of Lackawanna County Commissioner M. F. Lawler.

Incense Cedar Stops Moths

Any ordinary clothes closet can be made into a spacious cedar chest through installation of an incense cedar lining which gives off a pleasant fragrance to humans but repels moths.

Incense cedar linings cost little more than lath and plaster and are attractive as well as useful. No finish is needed because varnish or paint destroy the aromatic qualities.

For maximum protection, the lining should be applied to the closet floors and backs of doors as well as to walls and ceilings. Doors must fit tightly.

Petroleum products are known to have been used since Neolithic times when bitumen was used to cement parts of tools.

Democracy In Administration Of School Systems Advised

Harrisburg, (AP) — A school teacher suggested yesterday that democratic administration of the school system is the key to better instruction.

"The instructional program will be good in direct proportion to the practice of democratic personnel policies," Mrs. Audrey S. Graham, of Forest Hills, Allegheny County, Pa., said.

She spoke to about 400 school superintendents, principals and teachers attending the annual two-day Education Congress sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction.

"Democracy in school administrations is not new," Mrs. Graham added. "It is not something to describe as being either absent or present, but something that is present in some degree with goals for more perfect attainment ever in sight."

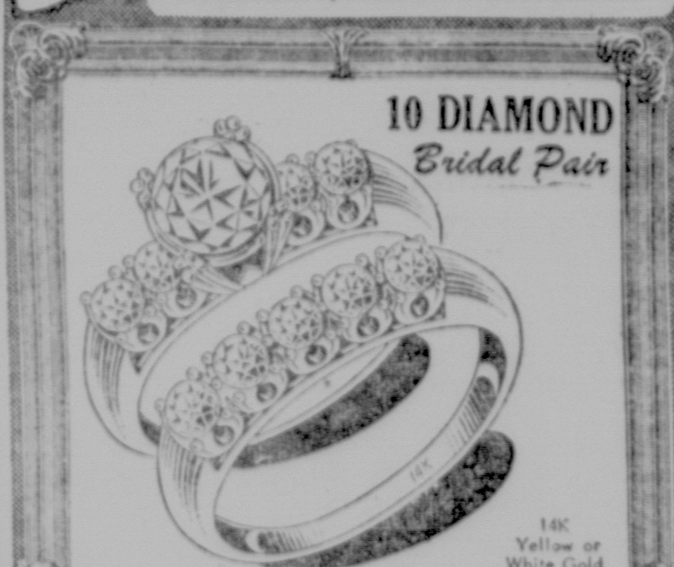

If children are to have the best in education, classroom teachers and school administrators must plan and work together, she asserted.

"Democratic administration of the schools is the key to the development of practical personnel policies and improvement of instruction. We must give more than lip service to working cooperatively on school policy and in-service programs."

Another Western Pennsylvania educator spoke about the improvement of instruction, Joseph N.

Tannersville Church Marks Anniversary

Tannersville — The congregation of Grace Reformed Church commemorated the 60th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of that church last Sunday.

Both morning and afternoon services were held, with present pastor, Rev. William Foote delivering the former sermon and presiding over the afternoon services. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, Edward Gerhard served as official organist for the occasion.

Also contributing to the musical portion of the program was the West End Sextet, a vocal group consisting of Mrs. Raymond Howells, Mrs. Mary Voyage, John Snyder, Myron Snyder and the director, Charles Waas, with Mrs. Helen Young as accompanist.

Rev. William H. Brong delivered a talk centered around the laying of the church cornerstone and describing his early days with the church. It was his first parish following graduation from the theological seminary.

Rev. Brong first came to the area in 1900.

William Lesh addressed the group on "looking back over the 60 years since the cornerstone was laid in 1892." His informal "history" of the church traced back to 1815 when the Lutheran and Reformed congregations were united.

This union congregation erected the Lutheran and Reformed Union Church in 1834. The two factions separated in 1892.

Lesh also gave the length of service for each pastor assigned to the charge beginning with Rev. Hoffeditz in 1815, who was the regular pastor at the Hamilton Reformed Church which is considered the mother church of all Reformed churches in Monroe County.

Rev. Shellenberger served the longest term of service in the county, dating from 1909 to 1951.

In concluding the ceremonies, Rev. Foote announced that anyone wishing to present a hymn book

Cemetery Drag's Popularity Wanes

Ojai, Calif. (AP) — The Cemetery Drag had brief popularity but it gave way yesterday to the Superior Court Lowdown.

Judge Walter J. Fourt told 24 teenagers and 15 parents that dancing in the moonlight in the cemetery must cease.

The youngsters, rounded up by police, said they went in for tombstone tangos and some beer-drinking just as a lark.

As a memento to a friend or loved one or in memory of a deceased family member may do so by contacting either himself or Mr. Gerhard.

Attendance at the services was very large.

Dear Editor:

As a G.I. arriving home from overseas and seeing all the signs and posters, "Don't forget to register," "Register and Vote" etc., I decided to do just that. On arriving at the registrar's office I was told I was too late. After explaining I had just arrived home from service overseas I was told it made no difference that the books were closed on Sept. 13th.

Now through no fault of ours 2567 other G.I.s and myself, who arrived back home on Sept. 18th, just 5 days after the registration office closed we may not vote.

The G.I.s still overseas will have the privilege of the absentee vote, that is, if they arrive there in time, while we who arrive home a few days late are denied the privilege to vote, due to some stupid law that says you must register before a certain date.

If there is anyone who knows how to cut the red tape and obtain this right and privilege for the late returning G.I.s let's hear from you.

Fifth Army Vets Dedicate Boys' Town In Italy

Salerno, Italy (AP) — A group of U.S. Fifth Army veterans who fought in the bloody battle of Salerno returned this week and laid the cornerstone of a boys' town dedicated to American and Italian friendship.

Thirty-five Americans stood in a drizzling rain with more than 1,000 other persons as Mrs. John Davis Lodge, Italian-born wife of the governor of Connecticut placed the stone with these words: "This monument will seal the friendship between our two peoples."

The site for the boys' town, designed to teach Italian orphan boys citizenship and trade, is at Pontecagnano opposite the tobacco factory that served as Salerno beachhead operations headquarters. The U.S. Fifth Army stormed ashore there Sept. 9, 1943.

The veterans present yesterday represented thousands of their buddies all over the United States who chipped in to establish the juvenile community. Leadership Of Women

While the margin may be small, the very fact that Republican women outnumber men in numbers registered to vote at this year's presidential election, while they trail by not too great a margin in the Democratic column, is most significant. It is, we believe, the second successive year the so-called weaker sex take the lead at the ballot box in Monroe County on the Republican side and the second successive year those on the Democratic side have shown stout gains.

Carping critics may sniff disdainfully at the narrow margin of 155 by which the Republican women lead the male voters, or crow a bit about the 820 lead the Democratic men have over the women, but the very fact that women voters are in these respective positions is something not to be laughed off. And how about that slim 710 difference between men and women in total registration of all types?

Since the distaff side was invited to participate in the voting almost a quarter of a century ago, there has been growing interest evidenced in the ballot by the female of the species, and those who like to gaze far into the future are given to predictions involving complete domination of the political scene by the feminine contingent.

We must decline to go out on a limb of prognostication but it cannot be denied that women have taken and are taking a far greater share of responsibility in the selection of election of candidates than during the earlier years of women's suffrage.

All in all, it must be conceded that they can be extremely helpful in building better government for the troublous time in which we find ourselves. They have proved their determination to assume the role.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington — Fair Deal, CIO and ADA yappers hardly have time to take a breath, it sometimes seems, between their screams of "slave labor" against the Taft-Hartley law.

They never, of course, have been able to come close to proving their point, because it isn't so. Here, I want to tell a story and let you judge for yourselves if it doesn't look as if there were still a bit of slavery in Taft-Hartley, but slavery against employers rather than employees.

For some 50 years, the Mount Hope finishing company has operated a textile plant at North Dighton, Mass. Family-owned, it was relatively small but a highly respected plant, and up until a few years ago had brought reasonable profits to its owners.

Because of rising costs, had times have fallen on the New England textile industry generally in recent years. Many firms have closed their New England plants and moved to other places where operating costs are lower.

In January, 1951, Robert Millikin, who owned 25 per cent of the stock of the Mount Hope Company, began looking around the South for a possible site for a new plant where operations could be conducted more economically.

On July 27, 1951, the United Textile Workers of America (CIO), began a campaign to organize workers at the Mount Hope plant in North Dighton. The drive was not successful, and on August 13 the UAW called a strike to give it momentum.

Trouble ensued when the company kept the plant open on a limited operation basis. A Boston judge, finally granted an injunction restraining the union from engaging in picket line violence. On Sept. 19, the company's board of directors voted to suspend operations a month hence. On October 5, the union called off the strike, and the company agreed that if it reopened the plant on a permanent basis it would bargain with the union over a contract. But on October 20, it closed the plant permanently, because of the strike too many customers had taken their business elsewhere to allow the firm to continue.

Meanwhile, Millikin had intensified his search for a southern site. Finally, in September, he found one at Buckner, N. C. Other stockholders still refused to move the North Dighton business so Millikin set up a new corporation in North Carolina and transferred 100 per cent of its stock.

In Massachusetts, negotiations to keep the North Dighton plant open, or sell it to other interests, were fruitless. So in December Millikin bought the Mount Hope name, and operated under it when he opened the Buckner plant last January.

The union thereupon scented an opportunity and filed charges with the National Labor Relations Board, alleging that establishment of the new corporation was simply a dummy operation designed to prevent unionization of the firm's employees. It termed the Buckner setup a runaway plant—a means of running away from the union in Massachusetts.

Hearings were held in June. Last month the trial examiner submitted his report upholding the union's charges and finding that the move was purely a dummy operation intended to prevent the organization of the workers for collective bargaining purposes, in violation of the labor-management relations or Taft-Hartley law.

The examiner proposed that the North Carolina company be compelled to hire—re-hire, he said—all the persons employed at the North Dighton plant before the strike started. It also said the company should make up to them whatever wages they might have lost owing to their lack of employment with Mount Hope.

As an added filip, the report also said that the job reinstatement should be offered at the Massachusetts plant, which has been closed since October; but that if the jobs are offered only at the Buckner plant, then the company also should pay moving costs for all of the workers who choose to take up the offer.

Neat, eh? Millikin estimates that the board's order could cost as much as $2,000,000. His company is filing with the full NLRB an appeal from the examiner's report, as well as a motion for a further hearing to present additional evidence—which it was not allowed to present in the first hearing—on the question of identical ownership of the two companies. No action has yet been taken, but it's fair to say that the board usually upholds its trial examiner's reports.

"Slave labor," huh? Iowa is sometimes called the "Hawkeye State" in honor of Black Hawk, chief of the Sauk Indians, who fought to keep his people's hunting ground.

The Antarctic is about 35 degrees colder than the Arctic region around the North Pole.

Old Indian Custom?

Apparently the United States of America is not the only nation in the world whose citizens fail to show the proper respect to their national anthem, for last week Prime Minister Nehru of India took occasion to lecture a crowd of his fellow countrymen about the bad manners they demonstrated during the singing of the Indian national anthem.

While it is scarcely to be expected that such independent individuals as those composing our own population will stand at attention as the Star Spangled Banner is played or sung, it must be admitted that far too often there is little respect shown to the anthem's rendition.

We have observed men and women who should know better walking about as the stirring music is played, stopping to light cigarettes or to exchange banter with their fellows, and in general acting as though the national anthem was a terrible bore that had to be suffered but should not be given much attention.

This is not only bad manners, we contend, but a mighty bad influence for the younger generation. Those who have served in the armed forces are generally to imbibed with the historic protocol of standing quietly until the anthem is completed.

But many others, including leaders in many walks of life, are evidently of the belief that there is no point in dignified observance of respect to our flag and our national anthem, and govern themselves accordingly.

The music of the Star Spangled Banner is merely a symbol of our belief in our country, but as a symbol it should be given at least a moment of respect, a brief period during which one can feel again the thrill of being a fortunate citizen of a great, free land.

ATTENTION, FBI: Poisonous products are not always bottled and clearly labeled.

Occasionally, they are packaged as newspapers and peddled to an unsuspecting public. Hence it is necessary to acquaint Americans with the dangerous editorial content of a journal that has falsely labeled itself "liberal."

The following is the record of Dorothy Schiff's New York Post. These are the facts... The supremacy of facts has never been effectively challenged. It survives impassioned apologists and the wild cries of outraged scoundrels.

The extent of Communist aggression overseas and the Red conspiracy within our borders was crystal-clear in August, 1948. Russia had enslaved a dozen nations and over 500 million people. Mao's Red armies were sweeping across China. Just two months before, Americans were stunned by the Communist snatch of Czechoslovakia. And the Un-American Activities Committee was engaged in its momentous probe of Communist espionage.

The August 12, 1948, New York Post editorially declared: "Our militarists are having a dandy time these days thinking up all sorts of ways to protect you and yours against the Russian Menace—spelled with a capital 'M' for malarky. And the un-American Congressmen, seeking to divert you from their failure to act on the inflation menace—act on, for monstrous—are right in this, sneering the way for public acceptance of the militarists' brilliant proposals... We have already been conned into spending more than 50% of our national budget for military purposes. We have even been fast-talked into a national draft."

Dorothy Schiff's paper casually dismissed the Russian threat, scorned the investigation of Communist spies, denounced American military leaders and deplored the U. S. defense program. Waving the New York Post's editorial at Communists in Korea could not stop them from shooting Americans.

I know full well that we are not supposed to swear—that we are not supposed to take God's name in vain.

Indicating, once and for all, that it really doesn't know how to behave in decent, democratic society.

Another date that will live in infamy is Dec. 15, 1948. It was the day Alger Hiss was indicted as a result of investigations by the Un-American Activities Committee... The day Hiss was indicted... The N. Y. Post accused that Congressional group of provoking "a barrage of smearing headlines" and demanded the committee's abolition.

The paper continued hammering at legislative and judicial instruments employed in the struggle against Communism. Back in 1949 the eleven Communist leaders were on trial for violating the Smith Act. A law that made it a crime to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Gov't... A New York Post editorial dated Jan. 18, 1949, opposed the Smith Act and added: "The men are not being tried for committing hostile acts against the U. S. They have been put in the dock for 'wrong' thinking; for allegedly teaching and advocating the destruction of the U. S. government by force."

These Red chiefs were finally convicted for advocating the violent overthrow of the Government—despite the Post's incredible declaration: "These men are not being tried for committing hostile acts against the U. S."

LOOKING AT LIFE THURSDAY "Hypocrite." — One who feigns to be other and better than he is; a false pretense to a virtue or piety. Syn. Deceiver, cheat, dissembler. Webster's Dictionary.

Much to do has been made in certain circles because both Eisenhower and Stevenson are supposed to have been using the word "damn" in their speeches.

It was not, however, only Republicans who condemned Stevenson for his mortal sin, nor was it only Democrats who vituperated Eisenhower.

It was a bunch of hypocrites who can see nothing but hell-and-damnation in every little misdeed or commission or omission in perfectly normal human beings.

The Negro Vote

Prior to the Civil War, the Negro problem was limited to the South, in the sense that the Negro population was concentrated there. In the North, there was an intellectual and emotional response to the institution of slavery. The war was ostensibly fought over the constitutional issue of State sovereignty and the right of a State to secede from the Union. The realistic issue was a struggle between North and South over conflicting economic systems.

In 1952, the Negro problem is universal in the United States because whereas in the South, it again raises the constitutional question of the sovereignty of each State in the Union, in the North and West, it involves the political control of each State.

In the following States, the difference between the Republican and Democratic Parties ran five percent or under in 1948: New York, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, California and Nevada. In those States, therefore, the shave was close and the parties would normally regard any group that might vote as a bloc as tremendously important, quite apart from any question of right or wrong.

In some of these States, the Negro population runs higher than the difference between the parties in the 1948 vote. For instance, in New York, which Dewey carried by the tip of his nose, under one percent, the Negroes constitute over six percent of the population. Even granting that they will not all vote as Negroes, the figures stir politicians to regard the Negro vote as a balance in the election.

In New York City, such a balance of power can actually be established in the voting statistics during recent years, particularly if to the Negro vote is added the Puerto Rican vote.

In a State like Maryland, where the difference between the two parties ran just over one percent, the Negro population runs close to 17 percent. Similar situations exist in Delaware, Illinois, and Michigan.

Before Franklin D. Roosevelt, what is generally called the Negro vote was Republican. It was Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, David Niles and Fiorella La Guardia who specialized in services for the Negro. It is true that Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Irving Ives realized the enormity of the competition. They put the New York FEPC through the Legislature and started that ball rolling. It won for them personal popularity among the Negroes, which, however, has not passed from those

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Individuals to the Republican Party. President Harry Truman, although of Southern predilections, recognized the value of the Northern Negro to the Democratic Party. He went further than Roosevelt in cultivating the Negro. On the issue of FEPC, which he calls civil rights, he split his party, risking the ire and opposition of the Southern Democrats. Nothing in Truman's career prior to his Presidency indicates any particular love for the Negro. As a politician, in office, he recognized a bonanza when he saw it. Of Roosevelt's entourage, the only person that he retained was David Niles, who had handled the so-called minorities for Roosevelt. Niles was a Harry Hopkins protégé and was equally cynical and opportunistic.

In this article, there is no discussion of general principles, of right or wrong, of any philosophy of life. Here, only political mechanics is being considered. The decision of both political parties is to seek to gain and hold the Northern Negro vote in critical states at any cost and to make any sacrifices for it. The Democrats renounced the history of their party, basic principles of States Rights, and have undoubtedly destroyed the Solid South as a political entity. The Republicans cannot match that, but they are hoping that they can wear the Negro back to their bosom.

Campaign By X-Ray Is this a political campaign or a traveling quiz program? Is it an election fight or a clambake given by glass-house manufacturers in cooperation with True Confessions magazine? Are we in a "From Financial Audit to White House" age, with the log cabin out of the picture because it lacks Exhibits A, Explanatory Notes and a list of contributors? Everybody is now getting into the act. But the Democrats made a mistake not having Stevenson and Sparkman follow the Dick Nixon video routine. Television is the latest asset to any campaigner and Adlai had a better opportunity to wow video fans than Dick. He explains that his fund was distributed in the form of Christmas gifts. Can you imagine the appeal of a telecast with Adlai as Santa, using live reindeers?

Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen! To the top of the wall with your answer to Nixon!

The "How Come" and "So What" have replaced the "Whodunit" on television. Does anybody think Stevenson's "The Night Before Christmas" would not have gone over on the living-room screens as well as Nixon's "The Night After Price-Waterhouse"?

Television can be a candidate's best friend. Before Dick Nixon put on his dramatic performance last week he was just a candidate for the Vice-Presidency. After the telecast he was a video star, an airwave hero, a matinee idol parties in 1948 were only one or two percent, a slight shift in the Negro vote may change the entire election.

The Negro is the only group of voters who is still regarded as voting racially. The Jewish vote hardly exists; it will be found in 1952 that the districts in which Jews prevail will not be different from districts in the same city where Jews are scarce. The so-called German vote does not exist. The labor vote was wholly disproved in the Taft campaign in Ohio in 1950.

Politicians like bloc voting, when they can get it, un-American as it is.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A little man in a Pennsylvania Railroad day-coach created quite a stir with his loud and repeated claims that he really was George Washington traveling incognito. Of course, nobody believed him—till he got off at Mt. Vernon.

Otis Cooper's Madison Avenue bookstore in New York was robbed by two ostensible browsers who took off with a half a dozen new novels apiece tucked under their arm. "Coop" took his loss philosophically. "When people start stealing books again," he told Authress Laura Hobson, "the slump is over, for fair."

and a man with a Hooper rating. In the twinkling of an eye he had transformed a political campaign into a combination of "Information Please," "The Big Show," "Private Eye," "What's My Line?," "The Web," "Man Against Crime," "They Stand Accused," and "Meet the Pressure." If Stevenson wants to tie that record he will have to get into the world series as a home-run hitter with the bases full. On video a politician can get not only the political audience but the baseball, the cooking recipe, the jackpot and wrestling audiences as well.

There was a time when it took a candidate weeks or months to catch up with an attack. Today the people can get the answer by television in a matter of hours. If he is young, good looking, forceful, honest, sincere, photogenic and a good showman he can get a greater audience in an initial performance than Berle, Godfrey, Kate Smith and Garro-way at large built up in their first three seasons. Mr. Nixon introduced his wife into the telecast, doing it with propriety and good taste. But we tremble to think if, in a similar position, some candidate not only put his mate on video but had her sing and dance. What would happen if in years to come a candidate, squaring himself with the people by television, introduced a mother who could swing Indian clubs, a father who did a tightrope act and maybe a couple of kids who gave imitations of Eddie Cantor?

Our idea of a candidate with the biggest opportunity for a big-time television show is Senator Sparkman, who admits he has around $100,000 in cash, life insurance, homes, farms, etc., exclusive of what his wife has. He says he got it all by "frugal savings which began in the thirties." We do not in the least doubt it, but any American who has been able to save money since the "thirties" is too wonderful for politics. He can start his own video show as a combination magician and strongman. Howdy Doodie would be eclipsed. But, really, boys and girls, isn't the whole thing going too far? We are all for candidates running open and above board, but need they run under the x-ray? First thing you know each candidate will be asking his opponent to show his wings and give a trial flight.

The Democrats will suffer most from those financial statements... In the public mind it is okay for Republicans to have money, but when a Democrat has money it is resented...

Council Acts To Abate Nuisance; Aids Fire Truck Purchase

Legal Action To Be Taken Against Mill

Attorney George T. Robinson, solicitor for the borough of Stroudsburg, was authorized last night to proceed with an action in equity against Holland Thread Mill to restrain that firm from "creating a nuisance" in the First Ward section of Stroudsburg.

The action came after Councilman Ed Doran, representing the First Ward, reported to council that Holland Thread had not taken any step to abate foul odors which allegedly come from lagoons used as drainage and settling spots for effluent from their thread-making and dye operations.

A check of councilman records indicated that council, last July 2, delayed a similar action after several years of effort to have the odors abated and the lagoons handled in such a manner that insects would not spread from them to the nearby community.

At the July 2 meeting, representatives of the firm who had just taken over the direction of the plant, appeared before council and said they had a plan which would alleviate all these conditions. At that time, Doran reminded, they promised very prompt action.

"I'm a patient man, but when people get so sick they cannot eat, three months is too long," the councilman said.

After consultation with Mr. Robinson, council unanimously approved the move to seek a restraining injunction directing the firm to abate a nuisance in that section of Stroudsburg.

Council also approved a motion to have the solicitor advise the State Highway Department the borough cannot go along with obtaining right-of-way which would permit the state to cut in half their proposed construction of a new bridge at Fifth St.

In order to go along with this request of the Highway Department, they said it would save the borough a great deal of money—the borough would have to assume too many costly risks in connection with the roadway and the Fifth Street Falls dam.

Council was advised that Keiper's Laundry had paid a fine of $100 for an unauthorized connection to the Stroudsburg sewer system and had also paid $750 in full payment of damages connected with the unauthorized connection and use of the borough's sanitary sewer system.

Approval was given a motion to file a request with the state for stop signs at all streets intersecting with Broad St., South Stroudsburg. They include Clermont, Bryant, Barry, Collins, Lenox and Collins Sts.

U. S. Investigates 15 Attending Red Conference

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday the State Department is investigating some 15 Americans attending the Communist-sponsored Asian "peace" conference at Peking, which he termed an "obvious propaganda operation."

Any who may have obtained passports by fraud or misused these documents is subject, he noted, to stiff fines and prison terms.

The conference, opening today, is expected to make the United States a target of propaganda attacks, Acheson told his news conference that it would deceive nobody. He said that Red China, while serving as host to the "peace" conference, is defying the United Nations, waging war in Korea, and has joined Soviet Russia in a hate campaign against Americans.

Bureau Cautions Lodges Of Scheme

Washington (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau warned lodges and fraternal societies yesterday against falling for a new gamblers' scheme to use non-profit organizations as a front to beat the federal wagering tax.

Tax officials disclosed at a news conference that they have come upon at least a dozen cases of the sort, mostly in Indiana.

They said that the societies involved could lose their tax-exempt status and be subject to tax assessments for the wagers handled.

NEW IDEA IN PATROLING is this "Good Will Car" bought and maintained by the Pennsylvania Sheriff's Association. The car, which is used to help correct traffic violations, is shown here as it appeared yesterday at the Monroe County Jail. Sheriff Jake Altemose is seated behind the wheel with Deputy Henry McCool standing outside looking on. The car passes from county to county on a one-week loan basis. Last week the car was used in Carbon County; this week in Monroe and next week will go to Pike county for use by the sheriff there. Not fully equipped at present, the vehicle will eventually have a loudspeaker system which will aid law officers in pointing out mistakes made by motorists. (Daily Record photo)

Car Rolls Over; One Man Injured

Two men escaped serious injury at the top of Foxtown Hill early yesterday when their car swerved to avoid a collision, struck a steel drum and rolled over several times.

Stroudsburg State police said the operator of the car, John S. Hollis, 21, of 188 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, was not hurt.

A passenger, Ronald Eppley, 20, of 109 Day St., East Stroudsburg, a Korea veteran now serving as a fireman for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, suffered bruises, possible concussion and a hip injury.

He was taken to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, but returned home after treatment.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,000.

Eppley said the car was just reaching the crest of the hill, on its way toward Stroudsburg, when out of the fog he saw an oncoming tractor-trailer approaching. Eppley said Hollis swerved to avoid the truck, and the wheels hit the steel drum at the site of some roadwork on the crest of the hill.

The new retail price in Philadelphia and suburban Philadelphia areas is 24½ cents, equalling an all-time state high.

The new price in the Lehigh area is 23 cents and in Erie a half a cent less.

Wholesale prices in the four areas: Philadelphia $6.64 a hundredweight 46½ quarts; suburban Philadelphia, $6.49; Lehigh, $6.45; and Erie $6.40.

$8,680 Found On Train, Quickly Restored To Owner

The story was disclosed yesterday of the finding of 3,000 pounds—in Egyptian currency, net weight—on a DL&W train near Cresco.

The money—30 bank notes of 100 pounds each—is equal to about $8,680. It was in a navy blue handbag found on the seat which had been occupied by Jacqueline Kilarjian, who maintains residence at Bel Harbor, N. Y., and Blairtown, N. J.

Besides the Egyptian currency the bag had valuable personal papers and about $40 cash in U. S. greenbacks.

The loss (of memory) occurred Friday. The woman boarded the train at Hoboken, N. J., was on her way to the Blairtown residence. She got off the train at Blairtown, left the handbag behind.

Blairtown State police telephoned Sgt. Harold Larison, DL&W detective in East Stroudsburg, just after the train had pulled out of the station at East Stroudsburg at 6:42 p. m. Friday.

Larison put through a message to Cresco. Shortly after, conductor John Abrams found the bag on the seat. He turned it over to the night stationmaster at the Lackawanna station in Scranton.

In the meantime the excited woman telephoned Larison several times. She was notified the bag was found.

The woman wasted no time; she drove to Scranton by car, received her bag intact after identifying herself.

Merchants Adopt Separate Christmas Lighting Projects

At a meeting of the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce last night in the Indian Queen Hotel, it was decided that Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg boroughs should "handle their own Christmas lighting projects" separately.

At the same time the merchants voted to make each borough responsible for raising its own funds for such a project.

The vote to maintain individual lighting projects came after the members had heard a report from a committee established to study a possible system suitable to both boroughs.

The report of this committee—which consisted of five Stroudsburg and five East Stroudsburg members—was given by John Mueller, a member of the group.

One of the recommendations made by the committee was for the use of "bracket-type" lighting attached to electric light poles in the community.

The group vetoed this proposal for the current year as "too expensive" and cited the shortage of time which would make it impossible to secure sufficient materials for the system.

Members of the division voted to establish a committee to study a long-range promotion project with an idea toward building up membership in the group.

11-Year-Old Pumper Must Be Replaced

Stroudsburg Council was confronted last night with the possibility that a new fire truck may have to be purchased to replace one—a World War two model—which has "been a headache" ever since it was purchased.

Councilman Daniel Warner filed a complete report on the 1941 American LaFrance truck which broke down and went out of operation during the serious Ann St. fire a few weeks ago. In that emergency an old 1923 pumper engine was brought back from retirement and utilized.

The truck in question, now reportedly out of production because of "bugs" discovered in a certain phase of operation, has been back to the factory a number of times and has had several checks and repairs jobs here.

A delegation of Phoenix firemen headed by Robert Phillips and accompanied by Fire Chief Robert Melick supplemented Mr. Warner's report.

They said that, actually, an emergency exists with only the Seagraves 1,000-gallon pumper properly ready for service. At least another 1,000-gallon pumper is required to meet standards of National Board of Fire Underwriters, Phillips said.

Because of lack of funds to make an immediate outlay for a new truck—the 1950 price was around $14,300 and convert the 1941 LaFrance to a hose carrier as suggested by the firemen, council asked firemen to report at a special meeting October 10 with the following information.

Approximate 1952 price of a new 1,000-gallon pumper, delivery possibilities, cost of changing the '41 pumper to a hose carrier, and cost of making the '41 pumper serviceable during the probably six to eight-month period required to get a new pumper.

Bids were opened on comprehensive insurance coverage on borough vehicles. The bids and the policies will be subjected to study by Attorney George T. Robinson and Secretary Harold E. Snyder. They will make their findings available to council at the meeting Oct. 10.

Queen Elevates Mate To Second Spot In Realm

London, (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II has promoted her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, to number two spot in the British Realm—right next to the Queen herself in royal protocol.

The move—made by the Queen's warrant and announced in the official London Gazette—was seen as a preliminary to making Philip prince consort. That is the title devised a century ago by Queen Victoria for her consort, Albert.

Philip is expected to get it before Elizabeth's coronation next June 2.

The Gazette said the Queen, by warrant dated Sept. 18, declares and ordains that the Duke "shall henceforth upon all occasions and in all meetings except where otherwise provided by act of Parliament, have, hold and enjoy a place of pre-eminence and precedence next to Her Majesty."

Until now, the Dukes of Windsor and Gloucester, sons of King George V, took official precedence over the Duke of Edinburgh at all functions not attended by the Queen.

Bids To Be Opened Oct. 16 For Partial Construction Of Eldred Township School

Bids submitted by contractors for partial construction of the new four-room school building for Eldred Township will be received and publicly opened Thursday, Oct. 16 at the offices of the State Public School Building Authority in Harrisburg.

Rinker and Kiefer, Seventh and Monroe Sts., Stroudsburg, are the architects for the building which is being erected by the State Authority on terms of an agreement used for small school districts.

Four major contracts will be open for bidding at the Oct. 16 meeting at the authority office, 101 S. 25th St., Kline Village, Harrisburg.

Bids will be received for (1) general construction; (2) heating (ventilation) construction; (3) plumbing installation and (4) electrical construction.

Plans for the building and for specific construction requirements may be obtained through application to the office of the architects and the deposit of a regulation fee.

Federal Curb On Structural Steel Use May Affect YMCA

YMCA officials are checking today to learn whether a government cut-down on use of structural steel will affect the construction planned for the "Y."

Last directive issued by National YMCA headquarters was received in Stroudsburg in the middle of June, according to Secretary John Wilson of the local "Y." This directive gave the green light for construction, Wilson said.

Yesterday's statement by the Defense Production Administration, however, was that because of the recent steel strike, industrial, commercial and recreational construction will be sharply restricted in the first quarter of 1953.

It said new industrial and commercial projects required structural steel will not be allowed in the period unless they directly benefit the defense program.

But allotments of structural steel in that period will allow the continuation of most construction already under way, the DPA said.

Recreational construction also will be limited. The building of private dwellings will not be affected, however, since home construction comes under a separate legislative program.

The DPA was reported to be considering an order relaxing bans on commercial and recreational construction next May* 1. Such action would be based on a belief that the steel supply situation will improve rapidly in the first part of 1953.

Wilson said he will telephone national headquarters today to try to find out if the restrictions will affect the "Y" construction program.

Boy Slightly Injured When Hit By Car

A six-year-old boy on his way to school was struck by a car at Milford Crossing, East Stroudsburg, about 12:45 p. m. yesterday.

He was Larry Gordon, walking to afternoon classes at the East Stroudsburg Elementary School with a group of friends.

The driver was listed as Carl V. Tewksbury, 17, East Stroudsburg RD 2, according to East Stroudsburg borough police. He was going north on N. Courtland St., Police said.

According to police, the child ran across the street at the railroad crossing and into the path of the car. Tewksbury stopped immediately. He and the boy's father, Edward W. Gordon, 375 N. Courtland St., who lives a short distance from the scene, took the boy to the General Hospital. The child was treated as an out-patient, then taken home.

The boy suffered brush burns on the face and right leg, and shock.

Two Electrocutted

Warren, (AP)—Robert Louis Kay, 29, and his brother-in-law, Dennis Erwin Lehman, 14, of nearby Youngsville, were electrocuted yesterday as a television aerial they were carrying touched a high voltage wire.

If the increase in television sets continues at its present rate, some experts say the number in the country should reach 53 million by 1960.

Three Mark Birthdays At Luncheon

Barrett—A triple birthday party was celebrated at a luncheon Sunday, September 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Price. Guests of honor were Mrs. W. Price, whose birthday was Saturday, September 27, her grandson Allen Oppelt, whose birthday was Sunday, September 28, and her husband-in-law, Phillip Ewing, whose birthday was Wednesday, October 1.

The table was decorated in yellow with favors for the guests. The centerpiece was made of a four-tiered cake for Mrs. Price and a heart cake for Allen Oppelt. Mrs. Price's cake was topped with decorations, which her sister, Mrs. C. Walsh, had brought from England. William Palmer Suffers Injury

Tillman Hawk Engaged For 40 Years In Well Drilling

For 40 years Tillman C. Hawk has been drilling artesian wells in Monroe County. For the past ten years his son, Robert, has been associated with him in the business, now operating as Tillman C. Hawk & Son, Cresco, Pa.

Not only does this firm have the know-how that comes from long experience, but they have equipment that is new and modern. Three well-drilling machines are now in operation—two Bucyrus-Erie and one Keystone—and all have been purchased new in the last eight years, since World War II. The operating force consists of seven men.

Tillman Hawk started in the well drilling business at Pocono Pines, but he has been located at Cresco for the past 35 years. His operations have been mainly in Monroe County and on the edge of Pike County. Finance plans are available to those served, with 12 to 36 months to pay.

Water is Tillman Hawk's sole business. Not only does he drill artesian wells to give you a water supply on your own property, but he owns and operates the Mountainhome Water Co. When he took over control of the company in 1928 it had just 18 customers.

Miss Scheller Is Bride Of Stanley Roth

Effort — Miss Dorothy Scheller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Scheller, of Kunkletown RD 2 became the bride of Stanley Roth, son of the late Peter and Anna Roth, of Wilkes-Barre on September 30 at 5 p. m. in St. John's Lutheran Church, Effort. Her wedding day also marked the birthday of the bride's father.

Rev. James Laubach officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by the families of the bride and groom. The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over tulle. The illusion neckline was edged in scrolls of lace, topped a fitted bodice and bouffant tulle skirt, paneled in lace, which ended in a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of satin and seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums, white roses and a white orchid in the center.

William Knecht, sister of the bride, wore a strapless gown of pink lace and nylon net over tulle, with a lace jacket and matching net headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink roses. William Knecht, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. The bride's mother wore a wine colored dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Percy Clayworth of Ashville, N. C., wore a royal blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. A turkey dinner for the immediate families and relatives was held at the Jonas Hotel.

After a wedding trip to North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Roth will make their home in Belvidere, N. J.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Sunday when the children have safely grown beyond the stage when people no longer say "What can their mother be thinking of?" no matter what they do, I think I shall write a rule-book for mother yet to come.

None of this business about how to give teen-agers a sense of security, a sense of accomplishment, and whatever the third thing is they always tell you is so important.

This will be all about how to avoid giving Mother a sense of insecurity, and a sense of failure.

One of the first rules will be "Don't... (b) No matter how much the day is, no matter how much it looks with the light, there against the barn, no matter if dinner is in the oven and ready to take care of itself for an hour—don't any way.

Not only will you be toppled from that pedestal of "Mother can do everything," not only will you have young squirts who should be showing respect for your years rolling on the ground in laughter, but you're going to feel very uncomfortable and very much older the next day.

Remember those muscles you developed lifting the piano, scrubbing the floor, painting the ceiling, and running up and down stairs fifty times a day, aren't the same muscles you use throwing a round ball at an impossibly high basket.

Mrs. Walp Is President Of Paradise PTA

Swiftwater — "The most interesting program we've ever had," was the comment of many members present at the "get acquainted" meeting of the Paradise PTA, at the school here, Monday night.

Mrs. David Nelson conducted the meeting, at which election of officers took place. Mrs. Henry Walp was elected for president, with Mrs. Nelson as vice president. Other officers and committee chairmen are as follows: Secretary, Mrs. Charles DePue; assistant secretary, Mrs. Francis Widdoss; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Layton; publicity, Mrs. Francis Cofman; hot lunch project, Mrs. John Hamblin; membership, Mrs. Harry Neiring; refreshments, Mrs. George Koerner Jr.; and cooks for the year, Mrs. Russell Shick and Mrs. Harry O. Heller.

Receptionists at this initial meeting were Mrs. John Lindstedt and Mrs. Carl Hamblin, greeting members and guests as they arrived. Mrs. David Mazer, president of Monroe County Council of PTA, was present to conduct discussion of projects for the organization, and cooperation and interest hit a new high.

Preceding the discussions, the fourth and fifth grades, of which Miss Audrey Hamblin is teacher, presented an entertaining feature in conjunction with their study of Monroe County. Songs and readings were given; the songs were "Fair Hills and Valley", "Indian Lullaby", and "Beautiful Pocomos". The latter song was composed by Mrs. Frederick Schneider, of the Forest Inn, Swiftwater.

Each individual introduced themselves, and Mrs. William McCoy was introduced as the new teacher for second and third grades. Ralph Knauf, teacher of sixth and seventh grades, awarded the attendance prize to Mrs. McCoy's room for having the most parents present at this meeting.

The annual Halloween party was also under discussion, with Mrs. McCoy heading the committee in charge of arrangements. Also on the party committee are: Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. L. Drake, Mrs. John Hamblin, and Mrs. John Lindstedt. The party will be held Friday, October 31, at the school, with further plans to be announced later.

A regular meeting date was set for the last Monday of each month. The lunch discussion brought up the idea of sending a weekly menu home with each child. For those who still want to bring a box lunch and buy milk at school, it was announced that the price of milk this year will be six cents.

Refreshments were served in the lunch room, by Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. Howard Bush, Mrs. Roderick Donaldson, and Miss Beatrice Bush.

Daily Newspaper

YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW

Theme of National Newspaper Week

You are a newspaper reader in a nation whose Constitution guarantees freedom of the press.

You have the right to know what your representatives in government are doing with your money.

You have the right to know what policies they are following in their efforts to run the affairs of your city, county, state and nation for the best interests of the public.

You ARE the public. You know that democracy will not operate efficiently or successfully unless the public is kept informed.

You may like to attend political meetings in person, or listen to your candidates on television or radio, but then you like to READ what they said in your newspaper. You like to ponder their words and weigh their ideas.

You expect your newspaper to report accurately and honestly both sides of controversial issues. You expect its editorial writers and columnists to interpret intelligently issues and problems that are important to the public. You may even wish to contribute your own letter to the editor.

You have a personal interest, therefore, in National Newspaper Week. In this election year, with the emotional outbursts, propaganda devices, charges and countercharges of the candidates, it is especially important that reporting be objective and accurate, and that interpretation be cool-headed and intelligent.

National Newspaper Week this year has a theme that penetrates to the very heart of sound democratic government. "YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW... A CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEE."

As an American, you have heard that term "Freedom of the Press" all your life. You have taken it for granted. You have always taken pride in that First Amendment of the Constitution:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

Yet, when you remember that the Soviet Union constitution also provides for freedom of the press, you realize with a shock that words mean little unless their meaning is translated into action; unless the power of government remains in the hands of the people and the people continue to be accurately informed.

Freedom of information has become a foremost issue of our times. Our generation has seen brutal onslaughts made against freedom by ruthless dictators. We have seen this happen since World War II in Russia, the Soviet satellites, Argentina, recently in Colombia, and elsewhere.

Often, right here inside the United States, there has come to light some incident in which some government official has tried to conduct government business in secret and shut information sources off from the press because he wishes to hide something from the public.

Probably at no time in our history has the vital role the press plays in our American form of government become more clear. Responsibilities of the Fourth Estate have increased. The press serves both the government and the public.

Fortunately, the United States has no government-controlled newspapers. Neither does the vicious system of licensing the press exist. Nevertheless, high-powered information offices in government agencies have tried to channel more and more of the information that is released to the press. Access to information is a growing problem—right here in America.

Politicians in some nations have seized newspapers, forced them to cease publication, and confiscated their property and equipment to serve as propaganda publishing centers for the government. That has not yet happened in America, although the President implied last spring that he possessed such "inherent powers" in an emergency.

Your right to know, and your determination to maintain that right is the key to the perpetuation of freedom of the press in America. Your Constitution does guarantee freedom of the press, but it is your responsibility to place men and women in public office who will carry out faithfully and honestly the provisions of the Constitution.

National Newspaper Week challenges every American to demand the perpetuation of his RIGHT TO KNOW. This is your precious heritage of freedom.

Kiwanis Club Hears Panel On Newspapers

National Newspaper Week was observed at the Kiwanis Club meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon when a panel discussion on the general subject of the value of the newspaper was given by four young women students of Stroudsburg High School.

Miss Margaret Smith, instructor in English at the High School presented the participants in the panel. Miss Pat Burnley, who acted as moderator and discussed the subject of "Your right to know—a constitutional guarantee"; Miss Carole Cramer, "Obstacles to the truth"; Miss Yvonne Auffant, "The Newspaper as an educational instrument"; and Miss Marilyn Learn, "Is the American press doing its job today?"

Miss Burnley referred to the right of man, freedom of the press and the fact that "you, the citizen count," and personal responsibility.

Miss Cramer spoke of sensationalism in the press, the spirit of "getting on the bandwagon" and the effect of propaganda. She advised reading the newspaper the clear way.

In her discussion of the educational facilities of newspapers, Miss Auffant said it acted much in the nature of the town crier. She said it influences more people than any other source of information because of its widespread coverage of many subjects.

Miss Learn in handling her subject whether the American press was doing a good job, said regardless of whether it was a good or bad job, fair or unfair, there is no other agency read by so many people. The big business and small business newspapers and their shortcomings were pointed out. Originally, she said newspapers were based on sound principles, now there is a mixture of facts and fiction, labeled as such.

A vast number of facts were brought out during the question and answer period. It was pointed out that reading of newspapers was taught in the Stroudsburg High School; that it was difficult to get students to sit down and read newspapers, other than the sections in which they are individually interested. Six newspapers are on file at the local high school library, it was disclosed.

The effect of environment and intellect was mentioned as influencing the readers, also the effectiveness of television in bringing out the news. In this connection it was told by one of the girls everyone did not have TV and must depend on newspapers. Further than that, persons viewing TV do

Life of Riley

Thursday is the day set aside each week to pick football winners and losers, and today is no exception, even though World Series interest is at its peak, with the Dodgers downing the Yankees in yesterday's opener, 4-2. This column came up with 41 right predictions last week and 11 wrong, for a season's mark of 72 right and 14 wrong, or a percentage of .818. However, last week's local front was terribly rough, as this corner missed three out of four games, East Stroudsburg's nod over Pen Argyl saving us from a blanking.

However, with chin out and fingers crossed, its time to begin the chores once again, and hope that five ties won't pop up again to ruin the record, as deadlocks are counted as wrong predictions by this column. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High grid machines open the home hostilities this weekend, with the Cavaliers invading Bangor and the Mountaineers playing host to Palmerton tomorrow. East Stroudsburg winds up the local action by entertaining Kings College on Saturday, on the Normal Hill field.

Stroudsburg suffered a rude jolt at the hands of Emmaus last week, but this writer has a hunch the injury riddled Mountaineers will come back on their home field and fawn Palmerton, a club of break-away runners, by something like a 12-7 count. At the same time East Stroudsburg will be putting its undefeated record on the line against a truly strong Bangor club that is thirsting for revenge of last season's loss to the Cavaliers. However, this writer will string along with the Cavaliers, by a 15-7 count, in one of the toughest games of the season for both clubs.

ESSTC, despite its new split-T formation, went down to defeat at Millersville in the opening game of the campaign, but since the Warriors have had a week to polish up their offense, this column will string along one more Saturday and pick the charges of Coach Gene Martin to down Kings College, 19-13. As if the local scene didn't stack up enough trouble, the national scene appears even tougher than it did a week previously. But, since time and space give no man a break, here goes from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, by the long route.

Southern California will end Army's one-game winning streak in no uncertain terms, while Wake Forest clips Boston College and Boston University appears a point or two stronger than Marquette, while Yale will bounce back with a slim verdict over Brown. Bucknell will roll over Muhlenberg, while Colgate swamps Buffalo and Columbia pumbers Harvard and Navy takes the measure of Cornell. Penn will roll over Dartmouth, Holy Cross will edge Fordham, while Lafayette trips Albright and New York University takes the measure of Kings Point.

Penn State rates the nod over William and Mary, while Chicago is an uncertain choice over Oklahoma and Princeton should make it two straight for the season against Rutgers. Syracuse will down Temple, while Villanova crushes Detroit and Illinois nips Wisconsin in a close game. Indiana should nip Iowa and Nebraska appears too strong for Iowa State, while Kansas appears too powerful for Colorado and Missouri should break into a victory column with a nod over Kansas State. A flip of a coin gives Stanford a slim nod over Michigan, while Michigan State downs Oregon State and California wins over Minnesota.

Northwestern should decide Vanderbilt, while a hunch gives this writer courage to pick Texas over Notre Dame. Ohio State rates the nod over Purdue, Oklahoma A and M will down Houston, Cincinnati rates the edge over Tulsa and Alabama is another uncertain choice over Miami. Auburn appears strong enough to decision Mississippi, while Florida rates the edge over The Citadel and Maryland should squeeze through to its third victory of the season, this one over Clemson. North Carolina State rates the nod over Davidson, Duke is too strong for Tennessee, Furman will roll over South Carolina and Georgia is too strong for North Carolina.

Southern Methodist will nip Georgia Tech, Texas A and M will clip Kentucky, Rice will down Louisiana State and Tulane look like a winner over Santa Clara. Texas Christian is my choice over Arkansas and the College of the Pacific will take the measure of Texas Tech. Arizona will top Utah, Brigham Young will win over Montana and Denver looks like a winner over Colorado A and M. Wyoming is favored over Utah and San Jose State rates the nod over Tempe State.

Oregon should down Idaho, while Washington tops UCLA, in a real thriller, and Baylor takes the measure of Washington State, in another honest-to-goodness knock-down-drag-out affair. Well, there it is for another week, a list of pickings that this writer will regret more than once before the coming weekend passes into history.

Black, Bats, Defense Give Dodgers First Victory

Duke Snider

Defense, as much as the home runs, told the story of this well-played thriller. The Dodgers, who tied a National League fielding record in the regular season, were all over the place. Furillo's whip arm discouraged Phil Rizzuto from trying to score from third in the fourth. Pafko cut down an over-anxious Gil McDougald going from first to third in the fifth. Pafko also made a sliding grab of "Black" Bauer's dropping fly for the final out in the fifth.

Despite the dazzling defense, Black was struggling all the way until Snider smashed that blockbuster some 400 feet into Bedford Ave.

It was a 1-1 when Snider stepped up in the sixth. Robinson's second-inning belt on a 5-2 pitch into the lower left field stands had been balanced by McDougald's home run in the third.

McDougald's homer just made it into the hands of a spectator in the first row of the lower left field seats. Pafko made a leaping stab but lost out to the fan. Foul-line umpire "Dusty" Boggess ruled it a legitimate home run.

The break came without warning in the sixth. Reynolds, the 31-year-old Yankee super chief, seemed to have settled down after a wild start. Still he was missing the corners with his curve.

Black, who saw only nine pitches—all strikes—during his three brief stays at the plate, was called out to open the sixth. Cox fouled to "Yogi" Berra. Reese singled to right and took second when Reynolds wild pitched.

With the count 2-1 on him, Snider sent a Reynolds pitch high and far over the scoreboard to break the deadlock.

The Yanks got one run back in the eighth when Gene Woodling, out of the starting lineup because of a groin injury, hit the screen in right-center for a pinch-hit triple. Bauer's fly ball scored Woodling, cutting the gap to one run.

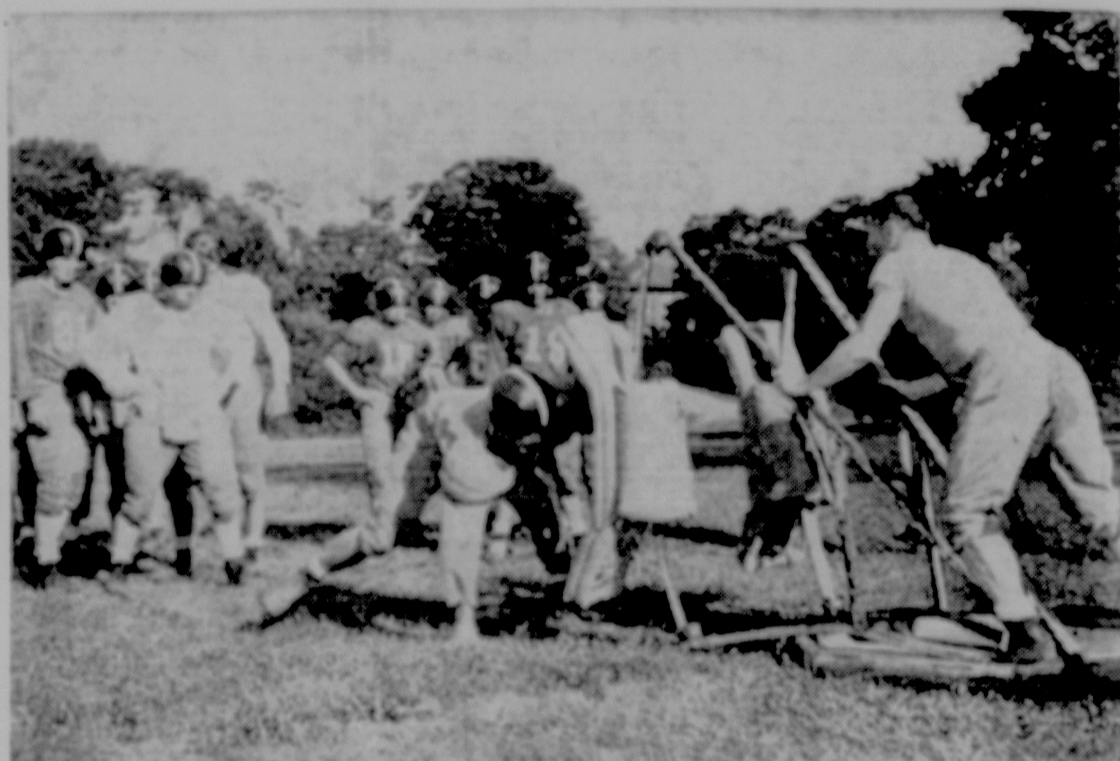

Then Reese, up with two out and nobody on in the eighth, lined his home run into the left field seats off relief pitcher Ray Scarborough. He was the first Dodger ever to hit two homers in series competition. Pee Wee's first came in the 1919 series against the Yanks.

Both managers already had announced their pitchers for today's game at Ebbets Field. It will be two right-handers—Carl Erskine (14-6) for the Braves and Vic Raschi (16-6) for the Yanks.

Snider Gains Revenge For Fanning Three Times In Opener Of 1949 Series Against Reynolds

By Will Grimley
Brooklyn (AP)—Duke Snider's game-winning home run was a "revenge" wallop and Joe Black, the big Brooklyn rookie right-hander who fanned the mighty Yankees in the first game of the World Series, is ready to go again today "if needed."

"And I may use him, too, in the late innings if it's a close ball game," said the Dodgers' homey manager Charlie Dressen, in the pandemonium of Brooklyn's celebrating dressing room.

"Joe has told me he wants to work. If he feels okay tomorrow I may call on him."

Snider, Black and the smiling, sharp-eyed Dressen shared most of the attention in the sweaty dressing quarters underneath Ebbets Field.

Snider, the husky centerfielder whose giant poke in the sixth inning broke open the ball game in Brooklyn's favor, said he hit a sliding fast ball thrown by Yankee pitcher Allie Reynolds.

"I got a big charge out of it, too," he added. "In the first game of the World Series in 1949 Reynolds struck me out three times. I swore I'd get even, and I did today."

The most relaxed undressed athlete in the Brooklyn quarters seemed to be Black, the 220-pound Morgan State College graduate whose fearless relief pitching carried the Dodgers to the National League flag.

"But he was far from relaxed, big Joe insisted.

"It wasn't easy. Don't ever let anybody tell you that," he said.

"Nervous? Was I nervous? I'm always nervous out there, my stomach was full of butterflies."

Black said he felt he had pitched better games this year than against the world champions.

"I've been faster, I know," he said. "But my curve ball was coming in there pretty well and I had control. I couldn't get my fast ball up against the left-handers. I don't know why."

Black said Gil McDougald gave him the most trouble but he worked harder on the Yankees' squat receiver, "Yogi" Berra.

"McDougald got to me for a walk and that home run," Joe said, "but I was bearing down more on Berra. I knew he might pole one out of there."

Dressen said, "It's Carl Erskine tomorrow, then 'Preacher' Roe. You know, we very well might win three in a row and then we wouldn't have to use Black again."

The peppery Dressen said yesterday's victory gave him double satisfaction because it was a double blow at his critics.

"First I was second-guessed for that magazine article of mine in which I said we wouldn't blow it again. Then I was second-guessed for starting Black today. The boys had to swallow both."

Monte Irvin, outfield star of the New York Giants, visited the dressing room to congratulate Jackie Robinson on his second home run—his first in a World Series—and Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run king, also was around shaking hands with the entire Dodger team.

Yankees Have No Defense Against Homers

By Ted Smits

Brooklyn (AP)—"You can't guess that ball that goes over the fence," said "Casey" Stengel.

The grey, gravel-voiced manager of the New York Yankees did not look particularly sad yesterday after losing the first game of the World Series to the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he didn't look happy either.

"I thought our side did all right. They fielded all right, but you can't guess the ball that goes over the fence."

Three home runs did it for the Dodgers, putting the Yankees one down in the opening game just as they were last year against the Giants when they went on to win. "Well," said Casey, "it was a nice game. They got more home runs than we did. Billy Cox played a nice game. Joe Black pitched a pretty good game."

Some one asked what kind of scouting reports the Yankees had on the Dodgers.

Short

"Scouting?" snorted Casey. "They beat us on the field."

Stengel, constant juggler of lineups, was asked what he had in mind for today.

"Don't know whether I'll change or not," he replied. "Woodling looked good. He ran pretty good. If Woodling don't crumble up during the night I must put him in the game."

Gene Woodling slammed a pinch hit triple in the eighth and scored on "Black" Bauer's fly.

"That fellow pitched a very good game," Casey went on, referring to Black. "I wouldn't want to say if he's as good as Don Newcombe. He was in trouble almost all the way, but he has pretty good control. You have to as a reliever."

"It just gets down to the fact you can't get away from three home runs."

Big Allie Reynolds, the Yankee ace who had his troubles, admitted afterwards that he couldn't get his curve over.

"Duke" Snider's home run in the sixth, he said, was on a "hanging curve."

"You can't make any mistakes in this little ball park," said Reynolds.

Stengel selected one play as a key to what might have changed the Yankee fortunes. This happened in the fifth inning when the score was tied, 1-1. Gil McDougald led off for the Yankees by drawing a base on balls. Then Bill Martin slammed a hard single to left and McDougald raced for third.

Andy Pafko, the Dodger left fielder, made a fast pickup and a sharp throw to third where Billy Cox, whose play sparkled all day, tagged McDougald. Umpire Bill McKinley called the Yankee out.

"I'm not complaining," said Casey. "It was a very close play at third and the umpire called him out. That's that."

The implication, of course, was that if McDougald had been safe the Yankees might have had a big inning on the way since Martin had taken second on the throw-in.

But here, as in other border-line decisions in this first World Series game, there was a minimum of argument or rharb. Commissioner Ford Frick told the boys beforehand that he wanted none of that stuff, and they obeyed orders.

The Yankees were a sober faced bunch, but far from grim, as they waited down the alleyway that led from their dugout to the red-dressed dressing room.

Black Writes Rags-To-Riches Story On Ebbets Field Mound

Brooklyn (AP)—From rags to riches in less than a year, that's the story of Joe Black, Brooklyn's super-duper relief ace and World Series star.

Last spring, anyone predicting that Black would pitch—and win—the opening game of the 1952 series would have been rushed to the psych ward.

Black was taken south by the Dodgers on a "look see" basis.

The tall right-hander had won only one game and lost 12 while playing for Brooklyn farms at Montreal and St. Paul in 1951. He spent the winter pitching in the Cuban Winter League under Billy Herman, a Brooklyn coach.

Herman urged the Dodger brass to look Black over at the Brooks' camp site at Vero Beach, Fla. Black made the grade and was hailed by some as another "Don Newcombe."

Just before the bell rang the Dodgers "purchased" Black's contract from Montreal.

Manager Charlie Dressen didn't use the 26-year-old rookie much at first. But as other starters and relief pitchers faltered, Black saw more and more action.

Cavaliers, Mountaineers To Take Different Grid Stands

East Stroudsburg High School's grid machine will be fighting off a revengeful Bangor football squad tomorrow night, while Stroudsburg will be out to atone for last year's League rivals square off before an expected large crowd at Gordon Giffels field.

The Cavaliers last year took the measure of Bangor, 12-0, at Eastburg's Memorial Stadium. This was the first time in the history of football at the N. Courtland St. school that the purple and white clad contingent had won over the Slaters.

East Stroudsburg will take a mark of two victories and no defeats into Bangor tomorrow, while the Slaters, with one victory and the same number of setbacks, will be waiting in ambush, hopeful of making up for last season's shut-out.

Slaters

The Cavaliers have taken the measure of Stoughton and Pen Argyl in that order, while Bangor bowed to Stroudsburg and won over Catasauqua. East Stroudsburg has scored 37 points in two games and given up only one touchdown to the opposition, while Bangor has 26 points to its credit, to 21 for the rivals.

Stroudsburg fell before Palmerton last season, at Palmerton, also by a 13-0 count, and will be out to turn the tables on the home lot, if possible.

However, Palmerton will present a team highly regarded for its breakaway runners, despite the fact that the Blue Bombers lost to Whitehouse last week, 14-6.

Stroudsburg opened the season with consecutive victories over Lehigh and Bangor, but last Saturday suffered a 20-7 reversal at the hands of Emmaus High.

Getz Makes Ruling At Special Meeting

Bartonville — Final round action in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League post-season playoffs will go off according to schedule, as a result of a decision handed down last night by Clinton Getz, league president, at a special circuit meeting here at the Bartonville Hotel.

Since the present constitution and by-laws were ruled to have no authority over playoff, Getz took advantage of Article 13, Section 1, to make his decision.

The article in mention states, "The president shall have the power and authority to decide disposition of any and all controversial matter whether in meeting, in or out of committee, in caucus or on the field, provided not covered by by-laws; and his determination shall constitute final disposition. And in the president's absence, the vice-president shall have the same power and authority."

On the power of this article, Getz ruled that the balance of the playoffs would be carried out according to schedule and that the regular season rosters of both Bushkill and Kunkleton must be followed throughout the series, as of Article 10, Section Three.

Article 10, Section Three states, "Any manager wishing to sign a player or play to his team after July 1 of each year must obtain written consent of two-thirds of all league team managers, exclusive of his own; and shall file this consent with the secretary of the league within 24 hours before the next regularly scheduled game in which player or players so obtained are lined up to play. Failure to so report shall prohibit player or players from participating in the game."

The championship playoff round, to be judged on the best two-out-of-three-game basis, will open in Kunkleton on Sunday and continue in Bushkill the following Sunday.

Getz was in charge of the meeting, which featured all teams in attendance except Anokim and West End A.C.

Approximately 25 people were present at the meeting.

Lindell Returns To Majors In Pitching Role With Bucs

Pittsburgh (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates purchased pitcher Johnny Lindell and outfielder Carlos Bernier yesterday from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Lindell, former New York Yankee outfielder, won 21 and lost nine. The 36-year-old right-hander also led the league in strikeouts with 190.

How Scores Upset At Belmont

New York (AP) — Herman B. Delman's How scored a startling upset in the 82nd running of the $50,000 add-on Ladies Handicap at Belmont Park yesterday as the favored Next Move, owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, finished last in the field of 11 fillies and mares.

Prices
How returned $35.10, $12.60, and $7.60 with Nick Shuk riding the 4-year-old daughter of Prince-Quillo in the mile and a half classic.

Woodvale Farm's Maria was second and Christina Stables' Enchanted Eve third.

How toted 112 pounds over the distance in 2:31 2/5.

Odds Drop On Yankees

New York (AP) — Odds on the New York Yankees to win the World Series dropped to six to five yesterday following the Brooklyn Dodgers' 4-2 victory in the opening game.

The Yankees had entered the series the choice at eight to five.

Today
The American League champions also were made the seven to five choice to win today's game with Vic Raschi opposing the Dodgers' Carl Erskine.

Pupils Must Pass Test To See Game

Mohawk, N. Y. (AP) — Pupils in the Mohawk Central School may watch the World Series on a television screen in the auditorium if they pass a baseball quiz.

True-False
School officials said yesterday that any pupil correctly answering seven of 10 true-or-false questions would be permitted to view the series during their study periods.

The quiz was given, the school said, because some pupils watching the series last year were not familiar with the game and spoiled it for the fans.

Four Matches Slated

Four matches are slated for the Stroud Ladies' League at the Pocono Bowling Center today, at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Penn-Dell Dairy vs Thomas Funeral Home.

Alleys three and four—Ann's Dress Shop vs Stroudsburg Furnace.

Alleys five and six—Bachman Oil vs Fernwood.

Alleys seven and eight—Mink's Floor Covering vs George's Shoes.

Cracks, Info From Press Box

Brooklyn (AP) — One of the best cracks of the series was made by a writer in the fifth inning following Andy Pafko's great throw and catch. "I gave that round to Pafko," the press box observer stated.

This marked the third time in four years that either a rookie or a relief pitcher has started the first game of a World Series against the Yankees. In 1949 Don Newcombe, then a rookie, dropped a 1-0 decision to Alvin Dark. In 1950 relief pitcher Jim Konstanty lost a 1-0 game to Vic Raschi. Last year veteran Dave Koslo of the Giants beat Reynolds. Rookie Joe Black edged Reynolds again yesterday, 4-2.

A writer quipped, "Johnny Schmitz is the hard luck guy of the year." Schmitz started the season with the Dodgers, was waived to the Yankees and then sent to Cincinnati, thus missing out twice on World Series glory.

Record Gate Predicted

Havana (AP) — A record Cuban gate was predicted for the welterweight title fight here Saturday night between Champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Billy Graham of New York.
